

LOWDEN ASKS SHOW DOWN.

CHICAGO, March 28.—All Republican Presidential candidates were challenged today by Gov. Frank O. Lowden to a showdown of their campaign funds and expenditures.

RESTORE GUARANTEES.

Constitutional guarantees, suspended by the Cuban government since the threatened strike of railroad employees, have been re-established, according to advices received by the State Department today.

Comfortable and Easy Fitting
CORSETS

At this shop you will be able to find all of the needed undergarments for the ladies' outfit. The Corset, of all, is the most important. Here you can find the corset that fits the figure snugly, giving extreme comfort and grace.

Priced From
$2.50 to $40.00

Bloomers of Pink Crepe and Batiste at.....$1.50
Pretty Envelope Chemise, all silk Crepe de Chine, in three styles, lace trimmed and tailored effects at $3.95
Hosiery of pure silk, with lace effects at.....$1.50

MADAME EUGENIE ET CIE

1209 G Street N. W.

Millinery of Distinction

The above photograph shows but a few of our wonderful display of hand made hats, copied through the latest Parisian models, and the Gage Model Hats.

The young lady wears a cardinal red creation, with georgette facing, and trimmings of field flowers with red poppies.

Black georgette brim, with balloon crown covered with, telephone braid. The edge is finished with telephone, with feather trimming of burnt goose.

Exclusive Millinery for Easter

OPEN EVENINGS

THE PEMBERTON SHOP

1121 14th St. N. W.

SAYS DIVORCE CURE
IS 'MORNING KISS'

Judge of "Marital" Court Gives Advice to Couples "Out of Tune."

(Continued from First Page.)
of justice, unfortunately showing itself by making divorces easier and easier, thousands of husbands and wives are rushing into the courts with fancied or magnified grievances and demanding a freedom which only spells misery for themselves and all of us in the end.

Meeting this situation takes the ingenuity and patience of those having authority to untie material knots, but who would rather discover just why the knots were slipping and apply some remedies.

Enemies of "Divorcitis."
Kisses—not those fluffy confections you buy at the bakery, but the soul-exhilarating touch of lips—are the natural enemies of "divorcitis."

Given and received in moderate quantities, and with a degree of regularity based only upon one's hours of work and play, kisses will usually vanquish whatever divorce germs may be prowling through the system of a husband and wife, and re-establish a state of marital health.

For instance: You and your mate may have quarreled over some comparatively trivial matter the night before. You have argued yourself off to sleep, and, in the mind of one or the other of you, the maggot of "divorcitis" has begun to propagate.

You awake in the morning, slightly ashamed of yourselves for "rowling" but too proud or stubborn to admit it. Breakfast is a grim affair.

Now! Just before leaving for work, what if you slipped over to where your wife was "riding" the table, or your husband silently clambering into his coat, and relieved the strain with a kiss?

Not just a perfunctory peck, you understand, but a real, honest-to-gracious kiss, preferably accompanying it with your arm around her waist or his shoulder.

Poor, Poor Divorce Bug!
Pouff! The life of that nasty little divorce bug which will surely cause you untold suffering and misery if he is allowed to endure will be extinguished in a flash.

Explanations, apologies and complete understanding will follow. Husband, finally, will go down the street whistling on his way to work and wife, with a new joy and a new resolve in her heart, will whisk the dishes into the kitchen to the lilt of a song.

No convalescence is more rapid nor ecstatic than that following such cleansing of the soul.

I once wrote a little jingle singing the praises of that "morning kiss" which was printed somewhat widely throughout the United States. I received many letters thanking me for the suggestion. I also received a few which pooh-poohed the idea. "A Married Woman Who Knows" sent me the following query:

When Henry comes home at half-past ten (Henry, my darling hubby),
Smelling of garlic and cloves again ("My, but his beard is stubby!")
And says he was out to get a sick friend, who would surely miss him; That still is as old as arithmetic.
What should I do, Judge—kiss him?

When Henry comes home at half-past two (Henry, my darling hubby),
After spending the night with cards and "brew"
Down at his cozy clubby—

When he trips with a thump over seven chairs (Never been known to miss 'em).
What should I do when he gets upstairs? Fall on his back and kiss him?

I'll admit that is somewhat of a stumper. Osculations, possibly, might not be in order that night. Quietly getting the "old man" to bed and applying a few cold cloths to his aching brow, would probably be much more efficacious, although prohibition has pretty well solved that problem.

Better Than Tongue Lashing.

But the morning kiss is going to do much more good than a tongue-lashing. "Henry," if he is worth having at all, is already so overwhelmed with remorse for his conduct that a tongue-lashing only makes him additionally unhappy or positively rebellious.

Kiss him, stubby beard and all, and let him see that you still have faith in him and love him. Later on, talk to him sincerely about his actions. Take my word for it he will appreciate your self-restraint, and there will be no case of "divorcitis" following his misstep.

Morning kisses will cut out the work of the divorce courts in half and double your portion of wedded bliss. Try them!

The divorce "bug" is like all other disease germs in this respect; it is routed by cleanliness.

Absence of filth and untidiness—mental, physical or otherwise—spells death to the germ. On the other hand, a slovenly state of mind, body or environment makes it wax and grow fat.

Broomstaws are the bayonets of cleanliness. They not only clean the floor, but sweep the dark, pestilential corners of the mind.

For instance: You and your mate may have quarreled over some comparatively trivial matter the night before. You have argued yourself off to sleep, and, in the mind of one or the other of you, the maggot of "divorcitis" has begun to propagate.

You awake in the morning, slightly ashamed of yourselves for "rowling" but too proud or stubborn to admit it. Breakfast is a grim affair.

Now! Just before leaving for work, what if you slipped over to where your wife was "riding" the table, or your husband silently clambering into his coat, and relieved the strain with a kiss?

Not just a perfunctory peck, you understand, but a real, honest-to-gracious kiss, preferably accompanying it with your arm around her waist or his shoulder.

Poor, Poor Divorce Bug!
Pouff! The life of that nasty little divorce bug which will surely cause you untold suffering and misery if he is allowed to endure will be extinguished in a flash.

Explanations, apologies and complete understanding will follow. Husband, finally, will go down the street whistling on his way to work and wife, with a new joy and a new resolve in her heart, will whisk the dishes into the kitchen to the lilt of a song.

No convalescence is more rapid nor ecstatic than that following such cleansing of the soul.

I once wrote a little jingle singing the praises of that "morning kiss" which was printed somewhat widely throughout the United States. I received many letters thanking me for the suggestion. I also received a few which pooh-poohed the idea. "A Married Woman Who Knows" sent me the following query:

When Henry comes home at half-past ten (Henry, my darling hubby),
Smelling of garlic and cloves again ("My, but his beard is stubby!")
And says he was out to get a sick friend, who would surely miss him; That still is as old as arithmetic.
What should I do, Judge—kiss him?

When Henry comes home at half-past two (Henry, my darling hubby),
After spending the night with cards and "brew"
Down at his cozy clubby—

mit and deceiving the wife as to the actual state of his finances?
For the wife to buy expensive millinery, wearing apparel and "pretties" in no way entitles her?

For husband, again, to "lend" in judiciously in wildest enterprises and watch it disappear?

Wifely Waste Attacked.

For wife, once more, to waste at the butcher's and baker's and grocery store by extravagant purchases of table delicacies or miscalculations and misconceptions of the needs of her household?

For husband and wife, oftentimes, to dissipate in a vain endeavor to buy social prestige, or business success, by keeping pace with a "set" or "gang" who have dollars where they have dimes?

To fritter away, in other words, with no thought gave that of "having a good time," or "being a good fellow," or "putting up a front?"

Morning kisses will cut out the work of the things for which there are "not sufficient funds."

If so I cannot advise you too urgently to quit! Either quit the foolish expenditure or quit the marriage game—dissolve the partnership—go your separate ways.

You are never going to make a go of it if you play it with that kind of cards! You are not even going to give your children, or the world a square deal!

Don't you see what a fearful mistake you are making?
In this world you simply get "so much for so much"—and the only way to get more is to earn more and save more.

Who is going to think better of you, friend husband, because you gamble away your income and stay out late at night? Nobody but the "good fellows" who live on the proceeds of your folly.

Who is going to admire you, friend wife, when you are decked out in finery which every one knows—oh, yes, they do!—that you cannot afford? Nobody—not even the merchants who sold them to you if you don't pay our bills promptly.

Who Will Thank You?

Who is going to thank you, friend husband, for those "loans" and "investments" you made so impetuously—the men who profited by your rashness? Pouff! They will merely laugh at you and brand you as a "sucker"—an "easy mark."

Does the butcher or the baker, or the grocer "respect" you, friend wife, when you overbuy, or spend your surplus on "specials"? Not they! Their respect is reserved for the woman who chooses her menus to fit her purse—who knows what she can afford and doesn't even flirt with anything more expensive.

As for this joint idea of "keeping up with Lizzie"—the sooner you drop that, the better. Let your friends know just how far you can go and still remain solvent—and sane. If they are real friends they will respect your limitations and your courage and frankness in announcing them.

Best of all, you'll never land in the divorce courts on a charge of "Not Sufficient Funds," nor of extravagance. Instead, you will have the laugh on hundreds who do, every day in the year.

JUSTICE ARELLANO QUILTS.

Chief Justice Arellano, of the Supreme Court of the Philippines, has called his resignation to President Wilson, to take effect April 1, on account of infirmity due to advancing years.

Distinctive Gowns
for Exclusive Patrons

Latest Styles

No Two Gowns
Alike

THE WOLFF CO.
MRS. M. A. WOLFF, Mgr.
Apartment 3
2217 Fourteenth Street
Phone North 186

On the Second Floor

BEST
SERVICE
Combined With Lowest Prices

Finest quality
SHELL/TEX frames in either glasses or spectacles, fitted with the very best TORIC LENSES. Special at

Have your eyes carefully examined by our graduate Optometrist.

INVARIABLE TORIC BIPOCALS
(one pair lenses to see near or far). LENSES made of one piece.
Fitted Shell/TEX frames in either eyeglasses or spectacles. Special at $8.50

KAHN OPTICAL CO.

617-619 Seventh St. N. W.

LECTURES UPON "LURE OF GREAT NORTHWEST"

"The lure of the Great Northwest" was the subject of a lecture by Frank Branch Riley at the mid-lenten ladies' night at the University Club last night.

The speaker was introduced by Claude N. Bennett, chairman of the entertainment committee, and after a vivid description of the States of Oregon and Washington and the Province of British Columbia, Mr. Riley showed a series of slides portraying the wonderful scenery to be found in that region.

He dwelt at length on the forests of the territory, showing many pictures of the huge trees that are now being preserved by the Federal Government.

He also showed slides of the great lakes and the mountains of the West.

The lecture was well attended and the speaker was warmly applauded.

The next lecture will be given by Mr. Riley at the University Club next week.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

The University Club is open to all students of the University.

THE SHOP
OF
SENSELESS
PRICES
SCHWARTZ
LADIES' TAILOR 1922 14th Street. IMPORTER

New Spring Frocks

For the Young Miss for Easter Wear

Specially priced,
$45.00 to $75.00

The well mastered suit with the narrow shoulder and fitted sleeve effect gives our garment the grace and beauty of custom-made, with the ease and convenience of the ready-to-wear.

Specially priced,
$65.00—$115.00

The correct use of lines applied to the stout figure is the secret of the perfection of fit and the slenderizing effect of our dresses and suits for the larger woman. They solve the problem of correct dress for the Juno type of figure.

Specially priced,
$47.00 to $125.00

Easter Flowers

that add to the real Easter Spirit in your home—

that breathe the perfumed message of this season—

"Say It With Flowers"

Gude Bros. Co.

Florists and Floral Decorations

1214 F St. N. W.

Phone: Main 4277-78-79; Frank. 6554
Members: Florists' Association
Flowers Delivered By Telegraph to All Parts of the World

Dine Today at the
FRANKLIN
SQUARE
HOTEL

At 14th and K Sts. N. W.

SERVICE A LA CARTE

For Reservations Phone Main 4284

SUNDAY SPECIALS

(In Addition to Regular Dinner)
Six to Eight P. M.

SOUP:

Chicken Soup with Okra, 30c
Consomme Bronoise, 30c

FISH:

Broiled Shad with Roe, Julienne Potatoes, 80c

ENTREES:

Creamed Sweetbreads with Mushrooms on Toast, Under Bell, 75c

Filet Mignon a la Franklin, $1.00

Roast Prime Ribs of Beef au jus with Mashed Potatoes, 85c

Roast Spring Chicken, Stuffed, with Giblet Sauce, $1.00

VEGETABLES:

New Potatoes in Cream, 30c

Fresh Asparagus, 60c New String Beans, 35c

Fresh Spinach with Egg 35c

DESSERT:

Rice Pudding with Cream, 20c Pumpkin Pie, 20c

Green Apple Pie, 20c

Blanc Manges Bavors, 20c

Assorted French Pastry, 25c

Strawberry Short Cake, 50c Raisin Cake, 20c

Vanilla Ice Cream, 20c

Grape Fruit Supreme, 60c

DINNER CONCERT

Six to Eight P. M.

1. March—Herculean Barnar
2. Valse—Rose Mazzacopa
3. Popular—(a)—Cuba Berlin
(b)—Rose of Sahara
4. To Spring Felix
5. Excerpts—Sweetheart Shop Gounod
6. Ave Maria Kern
7. Selection—Oh! Lady, Lady Zamecric
8. Serenade—The Wooing Lover
9. Novelty—Dardanella Frohlich
10. March—Georgian Bay

Orchestra Under Direction of
A. H. BORJES,
Assistant Conductor Loe's Palace Orchestra.

for EASTER—

That deft, finishing touch to your Easter costume is best secured by selection from our display of—

fashionable BAGS

Be sure to see them while the showing is yet complete. Silk, leather and bead effects—

from $5 to $20

—Prices, we believe, quite unequalled elsewhere in Washington for moderateness, quality considered.

boxed STATIONERY

If you have been puzzled as to something suitable for an Easter remembrance, why not decide on one of the many attractive boxes of desirable writing paper we are showing at—

from $1 to $10

Easter Novelties

—such as Place Cards, Crepe Paper Napkins and Table Covers, Ice Cups, Tally Cards, etc., are also in pleasing variety.

R